Transfer to Medicine after 1st year of Biomedical Science degree

One option, for students who have been unsuccessful when applying to study Medicine, is to complete the first year of a Biomedical Science degree and transfer to the first year of a Medicine degree.

However, there are many risks. Fewer than 20 students in the UK each year are successful and there are conditions that must be met.

Here's a list of the universities that offer the transfer opportunity:

University of Leicester

In 2018 (2017) there were 20 (21) applicants, of whom 17 (16) were interviewed, and 11 (6) were made offers.

2019 Request to transfer to the MBChB

Newcastle University

In 2018/19 49 students applied to transfer to Medicine. 14 were interviewed of which 7 received conditional offers subject to semester 2 results
